

To avoid excessive grouting pressure: What diameter of grout hoses is suitable?

Although the diameter may vary based on the size of the pump and other variables, 1" diameter grout hoses are typical for most operations. The use of a grout header and recirculation line may be helpful in controlling excessive grout pressures, especially in small tendons such as flat duct tendons.