

What can we do if we noticed air leak before grouting?

If an air leak is noticed before grouting, determine the source of the leak and repair it. Once the repair is complete retest and ensure it is resolved. This may entail a vent repair, tightening a grout cap, or even a concrete repair. In the cases of two ducts that are communicating with a leak between them, it may be prudent to grout those ducts together.