

Will the strand supplier typically recommend the 'approved oil'?

Possibly, if they have some experience with the various products. The references in the back of the M55 Spec (30 & 31) are a good source for most of the oils that are likely to be "approved" by an owner/engineer. Note that these have to be applied before inserting the strands so prior approval is required.