

Who do you report these data to?

Field and trial batch test data should go either to the owner or the inspection firms -- most of the time they'll witness this testing.